

his salary increased. The with S. Clapp and November 25th. Nervous know why the many conferences at next. The railroad crossing interior to permit its bright idea permanent. There to cover it heavy covered with hay ouching the an ute for the ow say that clo the closets, and lad mildew on the rem as the club the 4-10 train last angers on tip-toes.
ry cheap, but cle coat, and had man
He was evidently he was going to heading toward Bo ral minutes against and went through all sorts or s until the observers thought nally throw himself off the ough the open door, but he y sitting down and acted as if chew his umbrella. He did unk, but there was a screw ere. The boys are getting arbc's pond.

begin her vacation Saturday. The many She doesn't want to away. Mrs. H. O. en summering with eck, has closed one to the High
for a few weeks.
if the winter in New very stable is now orses! It is a well neat stable. There ses and several car-hold three carriages.
ben vocated, although ime to get use to the ne farmers were try-the snails out of the caused by the great of mosquitoes are this year, and they
the best cuts"..... mittee met yesterday the principal ques-
is Mr. H. E. Sawyer, and he hails from Cumberland Center,
Me. He graduated from the Colby university in 1881, and has had full charge of the Williamsburg, Mass., High school for the past three years. Mr. Sawyer was the first applicant for our school, and the committee invited him down yesterday. He is single, between 30 and 40, well built, clean face, and probably well-qualified to take up the work laid down by Professor Adams. The salary will be reduced a little the first year. He begins his labors September 7th.....Mrs. L. A. Kellogg will celebrate her birthday next week Tuesday.....Levi Ellsworth's trunk was sent from New York last week and lost. Springfield parties returned it Monday morning. The Sunday school committee think favorably of excursioning somewhere near New Haven not Savin Rock, however.

serious matter sometimes We should have said last night that the Windsor Furniture company man who had $1,500,000 left him lived in N. B. It is no use to look for him longer here.
The board of health has not yet been formally notified as to the dead horse at Po-quonock being too near any reservoir, but a man has mentioned the fact of the horse being half buried in a swamp.
He can have it removed by making a formal complaint.
Horace G. Barnes was buried at 2 o'clock yesterday.....A chicken coop has been built on the Consolidated road's land, northeast of the academy building, there being little room on the crowded lots south of the street....
The death of Hon. J. H. Rainey at Washington has cast a gloom over this town, where he was so favorably known. He and his wife were prominent in the Congregational church and Chautauqua society, and the announcement that Mr. Rainey was to speak on any subject was hailed with delight. He owns a house here, occupied by Mr. Blanchard, but sold most of his personal effects before removing to Washington.....A. M. Hoyt wants to find the owner of some money which he has found.....The Sunday schools will go to Pawson Park, New Haven, perhaps next Communion 5-25

4.5

Needless to say, I was taken by complete surprise when I visited The President Henry Tucker House in Hamilton, Bermuda in the Fall of 1986 when I walked down the few steps into an attached kitchen that once served as a barber shop that was run by Joseph Hayne Rainey (see the attached story).

Robert T. Silliman,
Director

hold a picnic but to put $2,500 into literature.....The Good Samaritans elect officers to-night, and a full meeting is desired.....
No one need look for Rev. Mr. Graves's hencoop and chickens to-day, for Mr. Holden wheeled the whole thing off last night in order to give them better care until the owner's return.....Rev. Mr. Pettibone left for Westbrook to-day to arrange for vacation.

RAINBOW. 2587
Rev. Russell Jennings, of Deep River, Conn., has given the Baptist church of this place $3,000 as a permanent fund, the proceeds of which go to the support of the preaching of the gospel. He has also given $200 toward a parsonage, and others have subscribed $1,500. A convenient and suitable dwelling will be erected as soon as the desired amount can be raised. The society is under deep obligations to Mr. Jennings for his generous gift, and will place on record resolutions to this effect.

Joseph H. Rainey, the colored ex-congressman who died last week, used to spend his summer at Windsor, and was a leading Congregationalist and an earnest advocate of temperance. He went to Washington last year to enter business, selling his household goods, and his small farm, which is incumbered, and will probably be sold. His wife was the president and life of the Chautauqua society, and when she left, it died. She is a remarkably well-informed woman and with Mr. Rainey would answer more conundrums and enigmas than all the white members combined. They moved in the best society, and their color never was thought of. Their children, three of them, are just as brilliant as their parents, the young boys can play difficult selections in public on the piano. In short, writes a Windsor correspondent, no better citizens could grace a town than J.
H. Rainey and his estimable family. His very rarely alluded to his official life, and it never seemed to add an inch to his height. Going as he did through all the corruption of the South and being a leading colored republican, without a taint on his honor, speaks volumes for the man.

2.1
35.0